

Interim Rector's Corner

Expect a miracle vs thinking outside the box.

What do "expect a miracle" and "thinking outside the box" have to do with each other?

"Thinking outside of the box" and "expect a miracle" are one in the same notion.

Are you thinking outside the box and expecting miracles as we travel through our transition time?

A lot of times I hear "but we have always done it this way".

Perhaps it is time to ponder what benefits could there be if we did it a bit differently.

Have you thought about becoming more involved in the programs that St. Martin's offers?

What about launching or volunteering in a new program for the sake of parishioners and others – HMM?

What about programs for our youth and children?

It's easy to remain in the box.

The box is cozy, you know its limitations, and you can close it off.

It's a bit scary to step out of the box, but that is where you will find miracles and God working.

Father Alfred Jewson